Message From The Pastor's Desk

The "HOLY FAMILY": A Model for our families

Today is the first Sunday of the Year, the Solemnity of the Holy Family. The 1st reading (Sir 3:2-6, 12-14) and the 2nd reading (Col 3:12-21 or 3:12-17) come together to paint a picture of how a Christ-centered family should function by outlining how each member of the family ought to act in their various roles.

In the first reading, St. Paul writes, "Wives, submit yourselves to your husbands, as is fitting in the Lord." Submission here is not an act of debasement but a voluntary choice that the wife makes for the greater good of the family. It is a faith issue, recognizing the husband as the God-appointed leader of the household, and it is done "as is fitting in the Lord." So, a woman whose husband is cruel, violent, demeaning, and overbearing is not held unto this obligation because the Lord detests such debasement as Scripture says: "Whatever you do to the least of these children of mine, you are doing it to me (Ref. Mathew 25: 40ff). Respect for a husband, as God's appointed head of the family, is what Scripture demands of any wife. It is respect out of love and regard for the one a wife compliments as her half. No matter a woman's financial, social, and political status, marriage requires her to be respectful and submissive to her husband. It is not misogyny; it is divinely appointed.

Scripture also says, "Husbands love your wives and do not be harsh with them." The word for love used here is similar to Christ's love for His church—selfless, sacrificial, sanctifying, and satisfying—with an unceasing care and loving service for his wife's well-being. Scripture says that a man should always keep in mind who his wife is—a gift from God (Proverb 18:22), a partner for life (Gen 2:24), and a mother of his children (Gen 4:1).

Shifting to children, St. Paul says, "Children obey your parents in everything; for this is pleasing to the Lord," and repeats the fourth commandment, "Honor your father and mother." Obedience to parents is a good measure of Christ-likeness. The book of Sirach states that honoring parents is a sign of righteousness, atones for sins (3:3,14), disposes God to hear and answer the prayers of those who exercise this virtue (3:5), and guarantees long life, prosperity, and temporal power (3:6-7). The patience required for the care of an elderly parent is said to strengthen character and that God looks upon children offering such care with compassion (3:12-14) and that respect due to parents is not something we can neglect without severe consequences, noting that honoring our parents is something that God set up to orient us toward Himself. Honoring our parents is not just about listening and obeying them; it also entails not taking for granted the sacrifices they make for us, helping out with shores in the house, learning to disagree with them without being insulting and abusive, being patient with them, understanding that they may insights that we don't have because of their experience, staying not just in contact but connected with them, making sure they are well taken care of in their old age, making sure they enjoy their grandchildren, and forgiving their shortcomings. Scripture also urges parents not to embitter their children, lest they become discouraged (Ref. Col 3:18-21).

While parents have authority over their children, they are not supposed to overdo it—creating a home that is an overbearing prison, setting goals too high for children to meet, being inconsistent with their promises, lacking in praise and appreciation, being absent in the life of their children, or creating favoritisms leading to sibling jealousy. Children become discouraged when they cannot please, properly obey, or secure a blessing from their parents. Such discouragement can easily lead to depression, withdrawal, or rebellious behaviors.

May the blessings of the Holy Family be ours now and forever! Amen].

Mind and Spirit Ministry

The month of December is a time of new beginnings, a time for family but also a time to reflect on the year as it comes to an end. While there is a strong emphasis on family, togetherness, and community during the holidays, all of us at Mind and Spirit Ministry understand that this time of year can bring up a lot of mixed emotions, as well as being very busy in the Church calendar.

As we move through Advent, we have opted not to host a group session in respect of the many commitments afforded to all of us during this time. Our next group meeting will be after the Christmas and New Year period on Thursday, January 11th at 7pm. We will share more information about that group session in due course.

For any parishioners experiencing difficulty, we ask that you reach out to available local and emergency support services when you require. We also encourage parishioners to attend mass and the numerous activities hosted by St. Michael. This is also a good time to volunteer and support others as these things can often uplift and where possible, seize the opportunity to take restorative time for yourself also.

Please do email us at ourmindandspirit@gmail.com if there are things you would like us to pray for, or for us to keep you in mind during this time. We would like to share with you this prayer sent to us from our friends in the Sanctuary Team. May these words be of comfort to you throughout this time.

A Prayer for Hope at Christmas

God of all seasons, as we move through Advent and Christmas, we look for you. You ask us to hold onto hope: the hope that Jesus truly is Emmanuel, God with us; the hope that you will bring light to the darkness; the hope that this good news will reach everyone, even our own hearts.

It can be so hard to live in hope—to wait and wait, through seasons of flourishing and seasons of languishing.

If we are able now to lean into hope, may we hold hope for our neighbors who cannot. And if we feel hopeless, may we trust in the truth that our hope is held by you and by our fellow saints on our behalf.

Jesus, as we hear the story of your coming, and we wait on your promise to come again, we ask that you show your presence among us here and now.

Help us to find our rest in you. Be our strength and consolation and bring joy to our longing hearts.

By the power of the Holy Spirit, fill us with your joy and peace, and help us to abound in hope.

Amen.*
